AGAIN TO DELAY
GRAND JURY PROBE

State Court Denies Shelley's Motion to Return Records To Dauphin County

MEANS TEN-DAY DELAY

Belief Is That When The Time Expires He Will Ask For Court To Reconsider

(By International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—District Attorney Carl B. Shelley, of Harrisburg, lost another attempt to "speed up" proceedings in the Grand Jury probe of the Earle administration today, when the State Supreme Court denied his motion to return records to the Dauphin County Court immediately. Attorney General Guy Bard petitioned the Court to retain the records for ten days, while he studied a plea for re-argument. It was believed that when the time had expired he would ask the Court to reconsider.

Shelley, in his petition filed with the Court before the justices had taken their seats at the bench, declared the statute of limitations had affected or would soon affect certain overt acts which are the subject of the probe, thus necessitating "speeding up" of the investigation.

Bard announced by charging that the Dauphin County District Attorney had failed to present "substantial argument" and waived the usual ten-day period allowed for him to study the court's decision for a possible appeal.

Puts Daughter in Jail

Lexington, N. C., Oct. 5.—The cell bars she opened to permit the escape of two felons, closed today on Lulabelle Kimmel, 22, a jailer's daughter.

And the lock was turned by her father, T. C. Kimmel, who was so "humiliated and grieved" that after jailing the girl, he handed in his resignation.

The girl, according to Sheriff Raymond Bowers, handed the keys over to James Godwin, 19, held as a burglar, because of his protestations that he would reform. Godwin then fled the jail with Bill Wilson, 21, of Hickory.

It is planned at Bristol high school building to draw most of the talent for assembly programs this year from the student body. The students and teachers plan, however, to include some paid programs in order to raise more funds to aid in paying the balance due on the motion picture machine. The paid assemblies will be limited to four to the first semester and two to the second.

JAMES ASSAILS JONES FOR DODGING THE QUESTION

Answer Is Finally Gotten From Democratic Candidate About Whitewash Laws

MAKES BITTER ATTACK

(By International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 5.—Another bitter personal attack on Charles Alvin Jones, his Democratic opponent, was written into the records here today by Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James, G. O. P. standard-bearer.

James told a rally here last night:

"A guest at a luncheon in Pittsburgh yesterday did something I haven't succeeded in doing during the entire course of this campaign—he got little Alvin Jones to answer a question.

"The question was one which the ten million men and women of this State have been asking with a voice of thunder, and until last night have heard only their own echo: 'Mr. Jones, what do you think about the gag laws of the special session?'

"Here is the way the question was put to Mr. Jones as he was conducting a forum at the Hungry Club at Pittsburgh: 'You cited with approval the record of the 1937 Legislature. With its output of 3,000 pages of law—what is your opinion of the output of the 1938 special session which cost the people of the State half a million dollars? Were the laws of that session in the interests of the people?'

"And here is how Mr. Jones replied to that question: (I quote from the newspaper accounts of the meeting) 'If I were to answer that question, I'd like to fully examine the laws, and I haven't had time to do that. But what has happened in the past is of no materiality to either myself or my opponent. We are concerned with what we'll do in the future.'

"In every respect this is an astounding statement. First, Alvin Jones has posed as an expert on the three thousand pages of fine print contained in the 1937 session—one of the few men in the State who is willing to tell me that he knows all about what is in those laws. He found time to read all that, and he has defended it all, including those which have been declared by the courts to be unconstitutional, invalid, abusive of power, contrary to the spirit of America—he approves these laws, jokers and all.

"He has joined in the ridiculous hue and cry because I said that most of these laws ought to be burned—he wouldn't burn a page of them. But when it comes to a couple of dozen pages of immunity laws, gagging witnesses against Governor Earle and his gang, depriving the people of this State of their constitutional protection against dishonesty in office—laws which he knew the Supreme Court had just declared to be an invasion of the rights and protections of the people—then it turns out that Alvin Jones has been too pre-occupied with campaign matters to read these laws."

James promised punishment to those guilty of misdemeanors if and when he is elected to office.

Benes To Resign

London, Oct. 5.—Reuter's dispatch from Prague today reported "persistent reports" that Czech President Eduard Benes will resign shortly.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

At a meeting of the Doylestown School Board, Supervising Principal J. Leonard Halderman reported a total of 311 tuition students in the Doylestown schools.

He explained that the 1938-39 budget made provision for an income of $25,000 from tuition students, but that if the 311 students continue to remain in school this year's tuition income will run from $700 to $800 more than was expected in the budget. "We should be getting close to $26,000 from tuition students," said Mr. Halderman.

The school districts and the number of tuition students they are sending to the Doylestown schools are as follows:

Bedminster township, 21; Buckingham township, 10; Chalfont, 13; Doylestown township, 48; Dublin, one; Haycock township, two; Hilltown township, four; Plumstead township, 56; Solebury township, five; Tinticum township, four; Warrington township, 46; Wycombe, two; New Britain township, 37; New Britain borough, 28; Horsham, two; Montgomery township, two; Upper Makefield township, three; Warwick township, five.

There are 291 tuition students in the high school, with 102 in the ninth grade, 73 in the tenth grade, 56 in the eleventh grade, and 59 in the twelfth grade.

The annual meeting of the Bucks County Natural Science Association was held at George School, Newtown, Saturday.

During the business session the following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: President, Stephen W. Fletcher, George School; secretary, Mrs. John B. Chambers, Newtown; treasurer, Anna S. Cliff, Langhorne; executive committee, Mrs. Edward A. Briggs, Newtown; Mrs. George Watson, Doylestown; Elizabeth A. Woodman, Wycombe; Mrs. E. Y. Barnes, Yardley; Helen H. Ely, Anna C. Scarborough, and Cora Willard, Newtown; and Lewis Sigafos, and J. Kirk Leatherman, Doylestown.

The following new members were admitted to the society: Miss Mary Cooper, Newtown, and Miss Grace Chandler, Doylestown.

The secretary, Mrs. John B. Chambers, gave an interesting annual report, after which different members were called upon to describe the field day outings held during the Summer.

The speaker of the afternoon was Fred Graub, agronomist of the extension division of State College, who gave an illustrated talk on the making of a lawn, and the elimination of undesirable weeds. Mr. Graub had previously supervised the reconstruction of the campus grounds of the George School. Some of the obnoxious weeds mentioned by him are dandelion, buckthorn, heal-all, poa-anna, crab grass.

100 Trained Horsemen and 75 Gallant Steeds to Perform At Phillies' Ball Park

MATINEE AND EVENING

Pennsylvania's greatest outdoor spectacle, Pennsylvania Motor Police Rodeo, with about 100 trained horsemen and 75 gallant steeds, will be presented Saturday at the Phillies Ball Park, Broad street and Lehigh avenue, Philadelphia. There will be thrills galore—excitement and tension—as Pennsylvania's finest are put through their paces at both matinee and evening performances. There will be motorcycle stunting, mounted wrestling, human saddle jumping, a musical chair race, a fancy saddle drill and a dozen or more other events which will give an idea of what a grand organization Pennsylvania has in its Motor Police.

Have you ever seen horses jump through hoops of fire? The flaming hurdle is only one of the many spectacular acts to be witnessed at the rodeo. Barbecue, the champion high-jumping horse, will help entertain the spectators by jumping hurdles without a rider.

The Motor Police boasts some of the finest revolver shots in the world. Members of the force will demonstrate their prowess in balloon shooting while mounted on a galloping horse. You will also see some of their best riders in a thrilling Roman race which is comparable to the feats of the arena performers of the old Roman Empire. The musical manual of arms, a rhythmic drill with rifles, is another of the many entertaining acts to be staged and which will delight the spectators.

Dog enthusiasts will also appreciate the feats of the well-trained police dogs which will be a feature at both performances.

The rodeo will be held for the benefit of the Pennsylvania State Police Pension Fund.

Mussolini Wants Agreement Applied at Once

London, Oct. 5.—Premier Mussolini, pressing swiftly forward toward reconstruction of Europe's political scene, today demanded immediate application of the Anglo-Italian agreement, including recognition of his conquest of Ethiopia.

This was revealed as the British cabinet prepared to plunge into still another session heated House of Commons debate on European affairs and the Munich agreement for dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

It Duce lodged his demands, it was learned, under the implied threat that otherwise he will resort to large-scale intervention in the Spanish Civil War in favor of the Insurgents.

Chamberlain is said to be anxious to grant Italy's request, but he is confronted with his solemn pledge to Parliament that Ethiopia would not be recognized until the Spanish conflict is settled.

To Probe Race Racket

Harrisburg, Oct. 5.—Pennsylvania's Legislature investigation of the horse race information racket today was slated to open in Philadelphia on Friday.

Senator Edward J. Thompson, chairman of the Investigating Committee, made the announcement after the Senate passed and sent to the Governor a bill appropriating $25,000 for a "careful and thorough investigation of the existing practices, which means machinery, instruments and devices" used in the gambling racket.

Hitch Over Boundary Lines

London, Oct. 5.—A Reuter dispatch from Berlin reported today that a hitch has occurred regarding fixing the boundary of the Sudetenland areas to be handed over to Germany by October 10 under terms of the four power Munich agreement.

Reich authorities, the report said, are believed to have stated their proposals on this question in so firm a manner that the negotiations have become "extremely difficult" as it has become impossible to reach an agreement.

Relief A Real Issue

Washington, Oct. 4.

IF THE country is to free itself of the New Deal disease in time to recover health and sanity, what it needs is concentration upon a single simple issue which people can easily understand instead of a blanket indictment covering so many points that the force is diluted and the effect nil. The proposal to return relief to the local committees presents such an issue. By far, it is the best upon which to make the fight. Even if the Federal Government puts up ninety-five per cent of the money, that would be an immense gain in that it would end a situation which has become a great national shame.

THERE are many reasons for centering the attack on the Administration's relief policy and urging the change. The first, of course, is that, under Mr. Harry Hopkins, the relief organization has become saturated with politics. Appointments are made on recommendation and approval of the politicians and the pretense of non-partisanship and non-political participation is completely transparent. Mr. Hopkins himself has become a recognized political factor. He is boosted for Governor in one State (New York); makes declarations in favor of the Administration Senatorial candidate in another (Iowa), and recently in a third (California) justifies Administration support of the absurd $30-a-week Thursday pension

He's Pleased With Courier

Because of the effectiveness of Courier classified advertisements, little "Buddy" Lynn, 401 Mill street, has had his puppy returned to him.

The little black and white dog, only 10 weeks old, wandered from home, and it was a sorrowful time in the Lynn household. Needless to say, "Buddy" is a happy lad now.

COURT DIVIDES
ELECTION DISTRICTS IN BRISTOL TWP.

Each of The Previous Three Districts Are Divided Into Two, Making Six in All

HEARING WAS HELD

Boundaries of New Divisions Are Set and Polling Places Will Be Designated

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 5.—A decree was handed down yesterday in Court of Quarter Sessions of Bucks County dividing each of the three election districts of Bristol Township into two districts, thereby making six election districts in the Township instead of three. Previous to the division the districts were East, West and Lower districts.

The districts will now be known as Bristol Township West, First District and Second District; Bristol Township East, First District and Second District; Bristol Township Lower, First District and Second District.

A hearing was held Monday upon an application filed September 6th and there were no objectors appearing before the court. The application was presented by Gordon H. Luckenbill, County solicitor, representing the Board of Elections of Bucks County.

The division was requested because of the increase in population and number of registered voters in the districts and in order to suit the convenience of the inhabitants and voters of the districts. It has been necessary for the election boards to remain at the polling places until the early hours of the mornings following election days so as to compute the ballots cast.

The new districts will contain between 300 and 500 voters each in place of the larger number they previously had. There are now 109 election districts in Bucks County.

The new districts are bounded as follows:

Bristol Township West, First District: Beginning at a point in the southerly line of Middletown Township at its intersection with the middle of the Neshaminy Creek; thence in an easterly direction along the line of Middletown Township and the center of the road leading from Hulmeville to Midway to its intersection with Route 69012 also known as Trenton Road at Midway; thence continuing along the center of Route 69012 in a northeasterly direction to its intersection with the center line of the road leading from Bristol to Oxford Valley; thence along the center of the Oxford Valley Road in a southerly direction to a point in the center of the Bender Creek where it crosses the said Oxford Valley Road; thence down the middle of the said Bender Creek in a southerly direction to Silver Lake; thence down the center of Silver Lake in a southerly direction to a point in the line of Bristol Borough; thence along said Bristol Borough line in a southwesterly direction to a point in the center of the Pennsylvania Railroad Right of Way; thence along the center of said Railroad Right of Way in a westerly direction to a point in the center of U. S. Route No. 13 (also known as the Frankford-Bristol-Trenton Turnpike); thence along the center of U. S. Route No. 13 in a westerly direction to a point in the middle of Route 69113 (also known as Rodgers Road); thence in a northerly direction along the center of Route 69113 to its intersection with the middle of Middletown Lane (also known as Ford Road); thence along the middle of Middletown Lane in a southwesterly direction to a point in the middle of the Neshaminy Creek; thence up the Neshaminy Creek in a northerly direction to the place of beginning.

Bristol Township West, Second District: Beginning at a point in the middle of Bensalem Township in the middle of the Neshaminy Creek in line with the middle of Middletown Lane (also known as Ford Road); thence along the center line of Middletown Lane to its intersection with Route 69113 (also known as Rogers Road); thence in a southerly direction along the center of Route 69113 to its intersection with U. S. Route 13 (also known as the Frankford-Bristol-Trenton Turnpike); thence in an easterly direction along the center line of U. S. Route No. 14 to its intersection with the center line of Pennsylvania Railroad Right of Way; thence along the center of the said Railroad Right of Way in a westerly direction to a point in the line of Bensalem Township in the middle of the Neshaminy Creek; thence up the middle of the Neshaminy Creek in a northerly direction to the place of beginning.

Bristol Township East, First District: Beginning at a point in the center of the Oxford Valley Road leading from Bristol where it intersects Route 69012 leading from Newportville to Emille (also known as Trenton Road); thence along the center of Route 69012, which is also the line of Middletown Township in a northeasterly direction to its intersection with the center line of Route 69013 at Emille; thence along the center of Route 69013 in a northwesterly direction to a point in the center line of Route 69013 in the middle of Queen Ann Creek; thence up the middle of Queen Ann Creek in a northeasterly direction to a point in the line of Middletown Township; thence continuing in a northwesterly direction to another point in the Middletown Township Line; thence still continuing along the line of Middletown Township in a northerly direction to a point in the middle of the road leading from Upper Emille to Chicken Foot, which is also

CARELESSNESS

Orderly, normal people do not drop waste paper and rubbish on the floors of their dwellings. Even the mention of this fact seems absurd. Nobody thinks of doing it. Why? Because from childhood every member of the family has been made to understand that such conduct is improper.

But the propriety of keeping city streets and sidewalks clean by the orderly conduct of not throwing litter on them is still regarded as useful public education. It is a familiar fact to tourists that in some countries people keep their streets clean by exercising the same care they show in their homes, while in other countries the streets even of fine cities are disgracefully littered. It is a matter of education.

A book on "Street Cleaning Practices" has appeared recently, published by the American Public Works Association. In it is found this significant statement: "People do not intentionally make street cleaners' work more difficult. They do not wilfully add to the unsightliness of their community. When they carelessly throw discarded articles or other refuse into the streets, they do it because everyone else does it, or because they have never been made to realize the bad effects of their actions."

What are some of these bad effects? First, it is an offense to the esthetic sense. People who live in clean surroundings become naturally more serene and happy and decent. Second, littering the streets adds to the cost of street cleaning and boosts taxes. Third, there may be a menace to the public health in the accumulations of dust and there certainly is expense in increased laundry and cleaners' bills and other required services in maintaining standards of decency.

STILL PIONEERING

Dr. Compton, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, again pleads the cause of research both in pure science and the more practical field of industry.

The layman will not dispute the prediction of the Massachusetts professor that research will unlock as many doors in the future as it has in the past.

For the nation as a whole inventions are the most effective answer to the so-called technological unemployment. Just as the machine has taken away jobs, the scientific spirit which gave it birth, can and does, open up others.

Now everybody is supposed to subscribe to some new treaties to help Europe work its way through the School of Experience.

The New York Yankees, also, have become too tough for comfort. It was hoped around the league that Chamberlain would touch on this.

HOLLYWOOD.—In a little while, George Raft will be back on the Paramount lot and when he goes, you hear, the studio will return half the salary he was docked during the suspension. General feeling in Hollywood remains that George talked out of turn this time, though there are two sides to every story. Raft's intimates don't believe that his romance with Virginia Peine is over. The two quarrel, they say, but it's really love.

Those men without inhibitions, the Ritz brothers, took off their shoes and socks and treated stay-up-laters at the Trocadero to a barefoot dance number called "Peeling the Peach."

When the Ritzes tried the same stunt at the Astor in New York, someone got away with their shoes.

Hizzoner Mayor La Guardia visited the Goldwyn studios and was personally escorted about the lot by the producer. When the party reached "The Restless Age" set, they were running off a playback of a Jascha Heifetz number. At the end came a tremendous burst of dubbed-in applause.

As the roar of the clapping hands and the cries of bravo filled the stage, the mayor turned to Goldwyn and grinned:

"I could use something like that in my business," he said.

"Fine," said Goldwyn, "we'll make you up a couple of records."

The "Three Smart Girls" of the picture that first brought fame to Deanna Durbin were Deanna, Nan Gray and Barbara Read. Now, Universal is making a sequel called "Three Smart Girls Grow Up," but Helen Parrish will play the Barbara Read part. Miss Read, who has been married, divorced and who has played sophisticated roles since the original picture, has grown up too much for the sequel, the studio has decided.

Funny story behind the layout of candid camera shots of George Brent that will appear shortly in one of the photo magazines. For the past year Brent has refused to let Warner Brothers send a cameraman to his hideaway near Palm Springs.

The other day an amateur photographer named Ray Stricker showed up at the studio publicity department with 160 pictures of Brent in the back yard of his hideaway. The star is shown fixing the tire on a car, boxing with his standin, Don Turner, and even sleeping with his mouth open in a hammock.

"How did you get to know Brent well enough to take these?" asked the publicity men.

"Oh, I've never met him," said the amateur. "I got all these shots when I climbed up in a tree and photographed Mr. Brent through a telescopic lens."

Stricker's ingenuity got him a nice check from the studio, which turned over the pictures to the photo magazine, even the one of Brent sleeping with his mouth open.

Nancy Kelly, newcomer from Broadway, is back from the "Jesse James" location and is ready to tell the world that the life of a movie star is no bed of roses. She was tossed from a horse over a barb-wire fence and, the next day, she slipped on a carriage step and laid her whole shin bare.

Yes, it has been hot this week. Lucille Ball, working on Ventura Boulevard with the "Trailer Romance" company, took hold of a metal fixture on a car and burned blisters in the palm of her hand. She required first aid treatment.

Gable left here for Winnipeg on such short notice that he didn't have Pullman reservations beyond Kansas City. . . . Jeanette MacDonald expects to be in the Good Samaritan hospital for two weeks to recuperate from her ear operation. She took 26 books to while away the hours of convalescence. . . . Nelson Eddy's most frequent feminine companion is still the ex-Mrs. Sidney Franklin. They were together at the Hollywood Brown Derby. . . . Luise Rainer's dinner partner at the Lamaze was Ladislav Czetel, the Parisian designer. La Rainer, you hear, is despairing of finding a new play and is now willing to appear in a revival. . . . Vicki Lester and Dick Purcell with their heads very close together at Sardi's. . . . Ona Munson gets a break at Universal in "Adam's Evening." Plays opposite Charles Ruggles. . . . Don't know whether the plans will jell but there's talk of Mickey Rooney's football team going to Omaha to play the Boys-town eleven.

The Great Game of Politics

scheme candidate by asserting that "is only a local issue, after all."

NOR can the trick words last June of Mr. Hopkins and his aide, Mr. Aubrey Williams, with which, in effect, they told people on relief how to cast their ballots, be forgotten. Characterizing these utterances, Mr. Hoover recently said "Ripped of all disguises and all intellectual dishonesty, the statements of these two men were a direction to the millions on relief and their wives and relatives how to vote." Wholly aside from all partisan indictment, there is evidence enough to justify this issue over and over again. Politics in the WPA has been denounced by a Senate investigation committee controlled by Democrats; it has been exposed in Democratic newspapers supporting the President; it has been vehemently asserted by leading Democrats in Congress.

IN FACT, it has been so widely charged and so generally recognized and admitted that the periodical gestures made by Mr. Hopkins, his stage indignation over the charges and his blatant assertions of his non-political attitude have become worse than ridiculous—they are impudent and brazen. In anti-New Deal circles they create a steadily growing resentment; among the New Deal politicians there is admiration for the way in which "Hop" gets away with it. One of the chief things some assert he has "gotten away with" is the adding to the relief rolls during political campaigns and at a time when, according to the Administration's own figures, business is improving and unemployment decreasing. That this singular fact, noted by Republicans more than once before a campaign, is anything more than a "coincidence" is hotly but not convincingly denied by Mr. Hopkins. At the present moment, though there certainly are signs of better business and Government agencies speak of less unemployment, more and more men are being put on the relief rolls, which now have reached their highest peak—over 3,100,000, and still going up. It is, perhaps, just a coincidence that an election will be held in five weeks.

TAKE IT all in all, this relief business, while probably the Administration's greatest political asset is also its most indefensible activity. It is being conducted at so vast a cost as to threaten the stability of the Government, and in so muddled a way as to shock every man who abhors waste and believes that the last thing which politics should touch is the relief of human misery. Those who advocate the return of relief to non-partisan local committees can urge it on three sound grounds—first, that it would remove relief from politics; second, that it would save a lot of money now wasted; third, that the destitute and distressed there will be a sufficient change in the complexion of the next Congress to bring about this vital needed reform is doubtful, but two things are sure—first, a majority of thoughtful men in House and Senate know the present system is bad and the other would be better; second, if the change comes it will be against the will of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hopkins, both of whom are irrevocably committed to the Federal Administration of relief and each of whom has obvious reasons for resisting.

MT. HOLLY GRIDDERS DEFEAT FALLSINGTON

FALLSINGTON, Oct. 5.—Coach Douglas Parker's Mt. Holly gridders took the measure of the Fallsington Falcons here yesterday afternoon, in the delayed opener, 20-7.

The visiting clan from New Jersey were led on the offensive by Lou Crammer, who counted them two touchdowns and added a pair of extra points to account for 14 of the Falcons' total points. Walt Carson chalked up the other six pointer while Walt Wasurki hung up a touchdown for Fallsington and scored the extra point as well.

Mt. Holly lost little time in getting their offensive attack rolling. After an exchange of punts, the Red and White outfit found themselves on their own 15 yard line. But then they opened their drive which carried them 85 yards into Fallsington's end zone. The march was featured by Carson's 10 yard gain on a sweeping end run from Fallsington's 37 to the 21 yard line, and Jim Brahm's 15 yard skirt around end to put the ball on the one yard marker. It was from that point that Carson hit the Falcons' forward wall to go over with the initial touchdown of the game. Crammer kicked the extra point to make it, 7-0, Mt. Holly.

In the third period, another march of 65 yards resulted in the Jersey's second six pointer of the game. This drive was featured by a pair of passes tossed by Crammer to Brahm which netted gains of 26 and 10 yards respectively. They made four first downs as compared to five in the first drive, and Crammer went over from the four yard line then again booted the extra point, making it 14-0, Mt. Holly.

Jack Rogers intercepted a Fallsington pass on the latter's 37 in the final period, and on the first play, Crammer raced the full distance for the visitors' final touchdown. The attempt to convert the extra point was blocked.

As the fourth and final period drew to a close, Fallsington opened an offensive attack which originated from mid-field and carried them over for their only score of the day. Walt Wasurki, who bore the brunt of the attack, went over from the seven yard line on a beautiful cutback over tackle. He also added the extra digit via a line play.

MARIETTA, O.—(INS)—Gas station business apparently is better in Marietta than the hotel trade.

The 65-year-old St. Elmo Hotel is being razed to make way for a gas station. Several years ago, the Norwood Hotel was moved back to allow the construction of one of the first service stations in the business district.

LOWER BUCKS HOCKEY LEAGUE TO OPEN SEASON

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 5.—Three games are on schedule for schools of Lower Bucks County as the newly formed girls' hockey circuit swings into action to pry off the lid of the second season of the Lower Bucks County field hockey league this afternoon.

At Cornwells Heights, the Bensalem Owl girls go into action against New Hope in the season's inaugural between the two schools. The other game is scheduled to be played at Newtown with Fallsington High furnishing the opposition for the Bluebellies.

Buckingham High, last year's champions, who nosed out Newtown for the first league title, drew a "bye" for opening day and therefore will be idle from league play. At the same time, the inability of Bristol High to put a team on the field has forced one other school, Langhorne, to remain idle on inauguration day, while the other game is to be played at Richboro in which Southampton High will be the guests of the afternoon's entertainment there.

All the teams this year seem to have been strengthened over last year's squads, and therefore, a well balanced circuit should result in close games and a good race this year right down to the finish day of the season, Wednesday, November 2.

BUCKINGHAM WINS OPENING SOCCER TILT

BUCKINGHAM, Oct. 5.—Southampton High's center forward, Dick Eltner, could not be blamed in any way for the defeat of his team at the hands of Buckingham High's soccer outfit in the Lower Bucks County league opener here yesterday, in which the Bucs beat the Greyhounds, 2-1.

For he contributed not alone the only point the visitors garnered in the tilt, but he also booted a goal that would have given coach Claude Lodge's boys a tie with Buckingham at 2-2. Instead his second point did not count because of a lineman being off-side. Hence the goal was nullified with the result that Buckingham held onto their slim margin of a single point to cop the honors in the season's opener.

Bob Downs, center forward; and Bob Horton, inside left, each contributed a goal to the Bucs total. Horton's came in the initial canto and was shot through from his position on the left side of the line about five yards out from the goal. In the second period, Downs pushed the ball through after Harry Strizel, Southampton goalie, juggled a boot in front of the goal as the forward wall of the Bucs moved in on him.

Eltner's boot sailed on a low line with swift precision and accuracy from about 15 yards outside the goal in the third period. Later in the same session he booted one in the same manner from the 12 yard line, but this one was declared void because of off-side.

While Eltner starred for a losing cause, Boyd Eastburn, center halfback for the Bucs, shone on the defense with his fine boots down the field to his mates which also helped to keep the visitors on the defense.

Periods:
Southampton 0 0 1 0-1
Buckingham 1 1 0 0-2
Goals: Buckingham (Horton and Downs); Southampton (Eltner). Referee: Luff, Buckingham. Time of periods: 8 minutes.

SZABO AND HALL TO VIE IN FEATURE BOUT

TRENTON, Oct. 5.—Sandro Szabo, popular Hungarian champion, and Dr. Len Hall, burly Nebraska pharmacist, will vie in the feature bout on Promoter Johnny Ipp's second mat offering at the Trenton Arena tonight.

Both men are possessors of winning streaks that have carried them through over 150 bouts without defeat and they will strive mightily to protect this record. There is bad blood between the pair as Hall accuses Szabo of running out on a bout with him in Los Angeles. Hall was the recipient of the largest hand ever accorded an athlete at the Arena at the finish of his bout with Tom Mahoney.

Mei-Mei bowls at Chicago's zoo
Bowling a la giant panda, Mei-Mei, only giant panda in captivity, inaugurates the bowling season by a somewhat unorthodox game of ten pins at Chicago's Brookfield zoo.

Both men wrestled scientifically and cleanly and a terrific outburst of applause greeted them at the conclusion of their effort.

Other bouts will pit George "Kayo" Koverly, free-punching Hollywood villain, against Joe Pazandak, classy Minnesotan, who substituted last Wednesday and downed the Cardiff Giant.

Abel "King Kong" Kashey, surly Syrian, will vie with young Mahoney, the "Golden Terror" 309-pound mysterious grappler, Jules Strongbow, 242-pound Cherokee Indian from Broken Bow, Oklahoma, will face Hank Matheny, bald-pated westerner, and reputed to be an extremely capable matman.

The first bout will start at 8:30 p. m.

SURVEY SHOWS NUMEROUS RABBITS, PHEASANTS

EDGELEY, Oct. 5.—At the meeting of Edgely Rod and Gun Club, Monday evening, presided over by President Horace Walker, in the local fire headquarters, the game committee reported it had made a survey during the last three week-ends and found a large number of rabbits and pheasants. This survey was made at the request of a number of sportsmen, including members of the local club as well as outsiders.

The big fish contest has reached the point where all fishermen of the club are interested due to the large number of entries during the past month. The bass entries are outstanding.

The delegates to the Bucks County Federation of sportsmen's clubs stated that pressure is being placed on the county game protector and after a lengthy discussion the delegates were instructed to oppose any measure pertaining to the ousting of this game protector. A committee was appointed to carry on incorporation proceedings which the club thinks is a necessity. Samuel Hellings, Harry Pitman and Joseph King were given this assignment.

The club is planning to have at an early meeting a film entitled "The Last Raft" which was taken by Mr. Lutteringer, head of the educational department of the game commission. This picture will show from the beginning until its destruction the entire course taken by this immense log raft. There is such a demand for this film by different clubs throughout the state that no definite date as to when the club will be able to show it, can be given, but nevertheless it is forth-coming and the public is invited.

The members who attended the federation meeting in Doylestown, Monday evening, included: Horace Walker, Elwood Britton, Harry Pitman, Fred Hibbs, Howard Hilgendorff, William Barrett and Nick Mannherz.

office of the Clerk of Orphans' Court, compared to 1211 licenses during the first nine months last year. During September this year licenses were issued to 181 couples compared to 164 in September a year ago.

The New Jersey law, which makes it necessary to have a medical certificate before getting a license, has been in operation long enough to check up on the statement that the law has increased the marriage licenses business in Bucks county. There is no doubt about it now, for an inspection of the marriage license docket shows that about 35 per cent of the licenses issued go to New Jersey applicants.

Approximately 75 per cent of the marriage licenses granted in September went to non-residents of Bucks county, with Philadelphia furnishing the largest number of applicants.

Returns show that about 90 per cent of the marriages performed in September in Bucks county took place at the offices of Justices of the Peace.

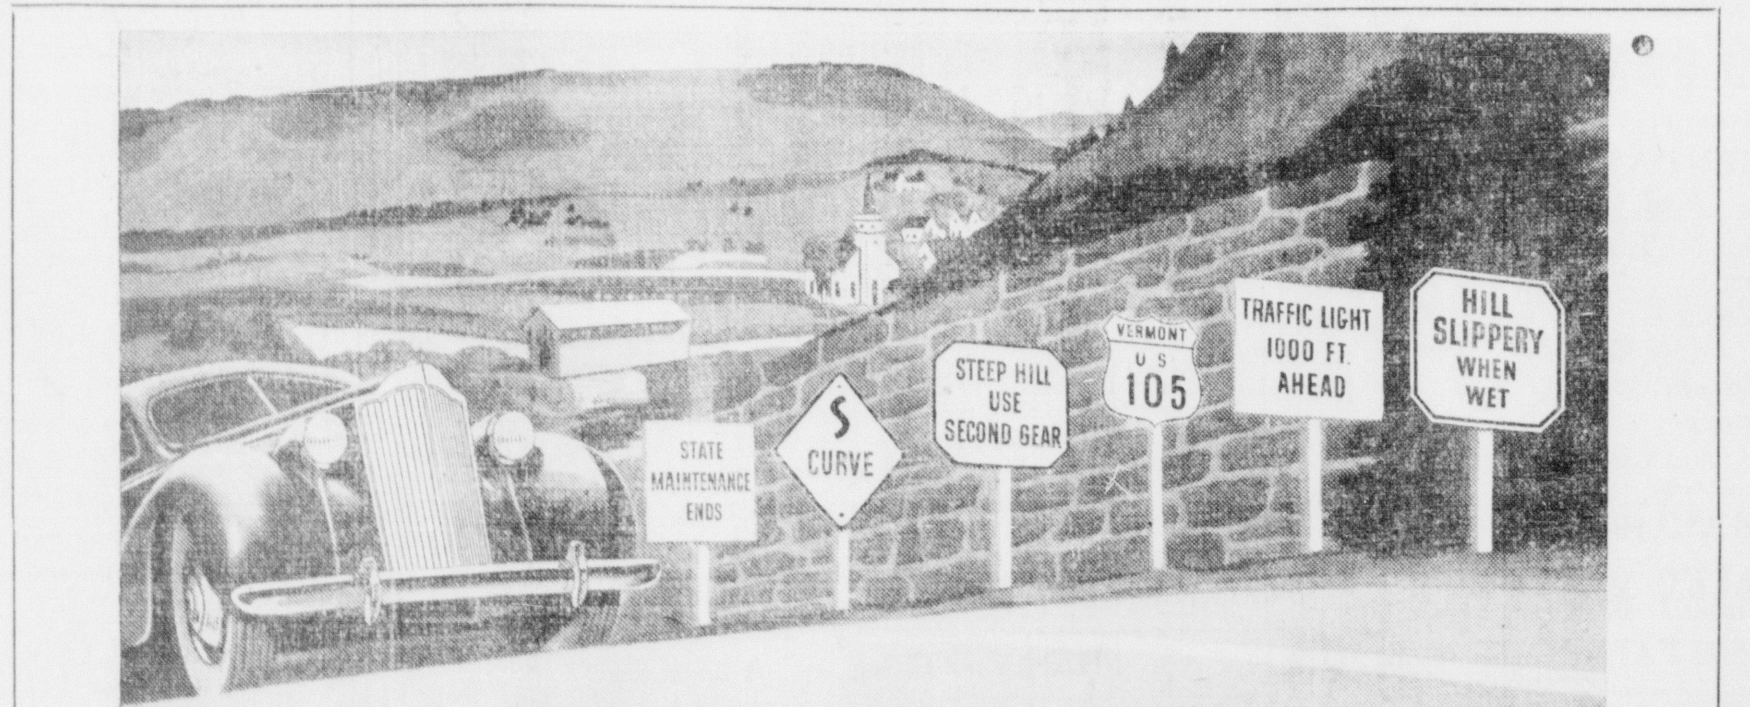

Applicants in September came from ten states.

Seventy per cent of the applicants in September were under thirty and less than five per cent were under twenty-one. Exactly sixty-six of the female applicants had occupations other than housework. Twenty-seven different trades and eight different professions were represented among the applicants.

large sum. The farmer, the shipper, the tacker, the packer pay this. The for going is the opening to an essay contest inaugurated recently to interest students in agricultural colleges and members of 4-H clubs in this question of preventing loss of livestock.

Another subject of general interest is the safety on highways—not only for humans, but for animals, too. A letter written recently to the American Humane Association, at Albany, by Albert J. Franklin, of San Diego, tells of an auto trip made by him and his wife through most of the States, and on which they counted on the roadside as they passed, 100 dogs and cats, left dead, or dying, by careless motorists, 500 chickens, and opossums and raccoons. Nothing is said of skunks, which help to rid of Japanese beetles, pheasants, or rabbits, etc. Aside from the loss in dollars to the owners of those chickens, what of the men, women and children who may have counted the dogs and cats left to die, as members of their families or their personal companions? In this State, if license numbers of careless motorists disregarding the lives of animals are reported, prosecution may follow of the careless drivers on the highways who strew death and suffering to animals as well as to humans.
